

DeepSec 2017 Preliminary Schedule published

Posted on August 17,2017 by lynx

After two weeks of intense reviewing we have published the preliminary schedule for DeepSec 2017. There are some blanks to fill, but this will be done in the coming weeks. We still have to do some reviews and wait for the speaker's confirmation.

In case you noticed, the ROOTS track is not filled yet. The call for papers was extended to 26 August. This means the ROOTS schedule will be published at the end of September. We have to give the programme committee ample time to review all submissions. So if you want to present your research at ROOTS 2017, please ready your submission. Science first!

Posted in:Administrivia,Conference,Training | Tagged:Announcement,DeepSec,Talk,Training | With 0 comments